The Last Until the Next One.

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—The supplement of the Panama Star and Herald of December 28th, gives an account of an attempt at a revolution. On the night of the 27th an attack was made upon General Atzuma, Ex-President of the State, and some friends, and that gentleman and others were wounded. Subsequently Segundo Pena, the newly-appointed Governor of the District, while passing through the streets in charge of the policemen, endeavoring to restore order, was fired upon by parties concealed, and instantly killed. An attack was made upon Chantel outside, and two men lost their lives. The object of the revolution was to place in power a State Government which would be more in accord with the political views of General Trujillo, President of the Republic. The scheme was exposed by one of its supposed friends, and in the attack both friend and foe suffered alike.

THE METROPOLIS.

Elevator Accident.

National Associated Press to the Star. NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Thos. Gillen, aged twenty-eight, a clerk employed at A. T. Stewart's store, while going upon the elevator, put his head out to look down, and was caught between the slide and chain, and was instantly killed.

Special to the Star.

A Desk for Major Wright.

Opposition to the Army Bill.

The Senators from California, Oregon, Kansas, Nebraska and several other States have received dispatches from army officers asking them to oppose the Reorganization Bill when it comes up in the Senate. The Late Robbery.

National Associated Press to the Star. WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—As yet no clue has been obtained of the perpetrator of the robbery of the Government Printing-office. The three mysterious persons who are said to have haunted the building for several days before are thought by many to be myths, and grave suspicions are entertained by others that some one connected with the office had a hand in the robbery. The Supreme Court on Polygamy.

The Supreme Court has made a decision which is regarded here as the death-knell of polygamy in Utah. It takes the ground that while the Constitution says that Congress shall make no law respecting or establishing religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof, this was only intended by the framers to apply to religious opinions, and to actions prejudicial to the peace and good order of society. The opinion says that there might be a certain form of religion justifying murder and other acts against the good order of society, but that the Constitution never intended to countenance the free exercise of such a belief.

CRIME AND CALAMITY.

A MYSTERIOUS MURDER.

LOUISVILLE, Jan. 8.—Robert W. Malone, Postmaster at Beckley's Station, on the Shelbyville Road, was found dead on the floor of Beckley's store yesterday morning. His head and body were horribly mangled, as if with a hatchet or some other heavy instrument. The murdered man was about fifty years of age, and was a former resident of Louisville. His death is wrapped in mystery, and thus far no clue has been obtained which would lead to the detection. Malone was left in the store Monday night at 8 o'clock by some friends, who discovered his remains Tuesday morning. The room presented the evidence of a bloody struggle, and as $50 were stolen, it is surmised that two thugs, who had been seen in the vicinity, were the guilty parties.

CHICAGO AGAIN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 8.—One of the boldest robberies ever reported in this city was perpetrated at 6 o'clock, yesterday evening, on East Madison street, when it was thronged with people coming from work. Two men, in a crowd, drove in front of the store of P. Goldsmith, jumped out, and while one placed a stick in the handles of the door to keep any one from getting out, the other broke the show-window with a hatchet, when each grabbed a tray of diamond rings, and jumped into their sleigh and drove away. Sixty rings were taken, valued at $4,500.

THE COBB-BISHOP CASE.

NORWICH, CONN., Jan. 8.—The Cobb-Bishop poisoning case was promptly called at 9:45 A. M. yesterday. The cross-examination of Wesley Bishop was continued. He testified that early in the case he repeatedly lied to his friends in saying he was innocent of the murder, and that his relations to the family were only just and friendly. He reaffirmed his clandestine meetings with Kate Cobb in the streets. He gave his deceased wife's apparel to her sister and relatives, and her wedding ring to Kate. He declined to say whether he made his four former statements under oath, because it might incriminate him.

The tramp came from Covington, Ky., and said his name was Charles Harkley.

LYNCHERS IN TEXAS.

WACO, TEXAS, Jan. 8.—A horror unprecedented in this locality was perpetrated here yesterday. Some days ago the house of old man Isaac Molony was robbed by masked men of $900. He identified two of the men. Constable Barrow arrested and lodged them in jail to await examination. Last night a mob of seventy-five armed men, and masked, quietly entered upon the prisoners. While one portion of the maskers made prisoners of the guards the remainder shot the prisoners to death in their beds. The cries of the doomed men were heard a great distance, but their cry for mercy was unavailing. The scene was one of sickening horror.

Most heart-rending groans came from the group of warriors standing near, and not a word was said for five minutes, until Dull Knife, a savage chief, in a loud and threatening voice, said: "Neither my people nor myself will return south.
